

ABSTRACT

The present invention discloses compositions and methods for improving steel-on-steel friction in power transmission fluids through the use of a sufficient amount of a thiadiazole or derivatives thereof.